This special cookbook contains not only brilliant recipes for edible gifts of various types – for children, women (mothers, daughters, friends...) and men (partners, fathers...) – but also truly original gift-wrapping ideas. The book is divided into topical chapters by the month of the year: February is the time of love, June is the children's month and December begs for the creation of presents for our loved ones! The book will help you to plan and execute your edible presents completely and to the very last detail (as it also includes an appendix with name tags, boxes, paper cones, etc.) but the last step – gift giving – is entirely up to you. The most beautiful cookbook of 2013 will bring joy to both you and your loved ones!
